PACKING TIPS

1. Beach gear: Pack your sunblock and beach toys to best enjoy "rock-enclosed cove beaches with crashing surf and seals playing on the waves."—TripAdvisor Member, San Diego, Calif.
2. Swimsuit: Chances are you'll get wet just watching the shows at SeaWorld San Diego. You may even want to swim with the dolphins!
3. A healthy appetite: You'll want to be ready to indulge, as San Diego is "the brunch capital of the world!"—TripAdvisor Member, San Diego, Calif.

Inside SAN DIEGO

Tucked into the southwest corner of the United States, San Diego is California's second largest city, with a population of 1.3 million. Once called "New Spain," in 1602 Sebastián Vizcaíno named the bay after his ship and in honor of St. Didacus—or San Diego de Alcalá de Henares. As the city grew, it took on the bay's name. San Diego's climate is mild and sunny throughout the year, and though prone to fog during May and June, the summer months are practically rainless. The city has a strong Mexican influence, due to its proximity to the Mexican border, but it also feels strong cultural influences from the city's Sicilian and Portuguese populations. Large Navy and Marine Corps bases are nearby. Other residents (unofficially) include a population of approximately 60 giant green sea turtles, of which the bay community is extremely proud.

SAN DIEGO'S BEST VIEWS

Cabrillo National Monument, on the Point Loma peninsula, commemorates the first landing of a European explorer in the area. In addition to the monument, you'll see "knock-your-socks-off views—absolutely stunning!"—TripAdvisor Member, New Mexico

Cabrillo National Monument, 1800 Cabrillo Memorial Dr., 619 557 5450

"You should definitely venture north to view the spectacular and rugged wilderness of the Torrey Pines State Reserve and the awesome cliffs and beaches of southern California."—TripAdvisor Member, Leesburg, Va.

Torrey Pines State Reserve, Coast Highway 101, 858 755 2063

"The Old Town Trolley Tours is one of the best ways to see San Diego. The driver offers tidbits about the sights along the tour route and it's so easy to jump on and off at any of the stops (the Zoo, Balboa Park, Hotel Del Coronado, Lindbergh Field, Horton Plaza, Seaport Village—just to name a few). This tour is definitely a must for any visitor to San Diego."—TripAdvisor Member, San Diego, Calif.
